Ahead of Dasara

High-tech sex rackets flourish

Mysuru, Aug. 30 (MTY&BCT)- Ahead of Dasara, sex services in city has gained momentum and hi-tech groups are operating in and around the city, soliciting customers. When a customer calls such groups seeking sex, they direct him to come to a spot and make payment online, before he is led to a hotel or a house for a fixed time.

Following a report in media about such services, Star of Mysore contacted the City Police Commissioner's office where sources admitted that special teams of informers have been constituted to curb flesh trade. City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeshwara Rao, however, said that the high-tech prostitution racket has not come to his notice.

Reports say that there are many organised groups who are operating in Mysuru and they get clients from Bengaluru and other places. Interestingly, the people in such groups have cleverly adopted technology to advertise sex service and also receive payments through widely-used payment portals. Some advertisements also claim that they have a wide network and operate in a "safe" atmosphere which is even "inaccessible" to the Police.

The groups operate through a network of pimps who do not reveal their real names and use pseudo-names whenever a potential customer calls them seeking sex. Once a customer calls the number that has been advertised online, he is informed about the age of the girl and the location from where she has to be picked up. As the deal is finalised, the customer is told to pay online and send back the payment reference number and the screen-shot of the payment made to the pimp's mobile phone.

Media reports say that among the favourite pick up points in city are near a famous educational institute at Bannimantap and at the prominent junction on the Mysuru-Bengaluru Road. Reports said that pimps offer "special packages" during Dasara and as all tourists may not carry cash all the time, money is sought through online portals involving internet banking and where debit cards are used.

HIGH DRAMA

in front of CM's house

Police and security personnel trying to pacify people who were agitated by the behaviour of a Police Constable who used abusive language at them in front of Chief Minister Siddharamaiah's house in city this morning.

Mysuru, Aug. 30 (RKB&BCT)- High drama was witnessed at Chief Minister Siddharamaiah's Ramakrishnanagar residence this morning as a Police Constable allegedly used foul language when he was controlling people who had come to meet the CM to air their grievances.

As Siddharamaiah was in city since yesterday, over 300 people had come to meet him – as early as 7 am – and give their representations. Though barricades were set up in front of the house, in their eagerness to meet the CM, people started pushing the barricades.

Seeing the advancing crowd, a Police Constable (he has not yet been identified or his name kept under wraps) abused some people with vulgar language and pushed some of them aside. Taking objection to his behaviour, the people too started shouting at the Constable and told him that they have been waiting to meet the CM and he should mind his language.

The Constable, however, did not stop at this and continued to use filthy language. When some people in the crowd threatened him that they would complain about his attitude to the CM, he quietly left the place.

Later, a team of senior Police Officers and security personnel arrived at the spot to pacify the crowd.

Order was restored soon as Siddharamaiah's son Yathindra Siddharamaiah came out of the house and began hearing people's problems.

D.K. Shivakumar in city

Seeks Chamundeshwari's blessings

While I-T raids his friend's house in Bengaluru

Mysuru, Aug. 30 (PM&NNN)- Energy Minister D.K. Shivakumar, in his first visit to the City after the recent Income Tax raid, in a veiled threat said that even the Congress had in its armoury, weapons, to fight against BJP's 'politically motivated' actions.

He was addressing mediapersons after performing pooja to Goddess Chamundeshwari atop Chamundi Hill, here this morning and said that he had prayed for the welfare of the State, good of the people and also his own well-being.

Asked for his reaction on the raid by the Income Tax officials on his properties in 70 locations in Karnataka and Delhi, Shivakumar said that he was pained more at his relatives and others being targeted than the raid on him.

CFTRI: Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow

When asked about one's situation in day-to-day life, particularly in Mysuru, the most commonly heard response is "managing somehow." Most managers, vested with the onerous responsibility of foreseeing problems in their set-up and solving them without passing the buck to their employers would respond the same way to the friendly question. However, that kind of a wishy-washy reply and mindset dictating that standoffish ethos on the part of the individuals in charge may prove detrimental to the health of their establishment and its public image in case of publicly funded institutions. A case in point presents itself this week in the city. One is obliged to dwell on Central Food Technological Research Institute (CFTRI), Mysuru, which has made front-page news in this daily yesterday for all wrong reasons. In fact, it may be more appropriate to remark that the national institute, which formally took birth in the city in October 1949, has been making news, on and off, for some time past, the centre-figure in the despatches being its Director himself.

Many in the city can testify that CFTRI, one of the 39 research institutes under the umbrella of Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR), Department of Science and Technology (DST), Government of India, has witnessed glorious days in the past until recently, thanks to the pioneering research of scientists resulting in many now-well-known technologies in the field of Food Science and Technology that have been gainfully utilised by entrepreneurs both in India and other countries.

Public image of institutes such as CFTRI, particularly with decades of history, is bound to experience high and low views. The Heads of CFTRI and staff of its various Departments, until recently, did manage to earn adulation in circles of their profession, namely research and development as well as food processing industry, locally, regionally, nationally and also globally. Their successful research efforts have made the country self-reliant in the field of innovation, having developed processes for instant mixes for the land's traditional dishes, value addition to plantation produce such as spices, baby food based on buffalo milk, to name a few, apart from training youth to be competent food scientists and technologists.

Over the past five years, the ambience within the CFTRI witnessed a disturbing makeover, quite contrasting to that of the past six-plus decades. A pro-Kannada outfit took umbrage at the clutch of staff-unfriendly acts attributed to the just-transferred Head of the Institute, while the city's cognoscenti with their avinaabhaava (I-can't-be-without-you) connect with the Institute chose to be passive witness to the goings. The CSIR has moved its Head to its Head Quarters, reportedly in public interest. His successor is required to lead the staff of CFTRI from the front to be future-ready in their research projects.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

In Mumbai, we used to live in a crumbling building bang on the beach, in a tony neighbourhood known as Seven Bungalows in Versova. A thin strip of shanties was all that separated the building from the beach. If one looked straight out of the fourth floor windows, there was a spectacular view of the Arabian Sea, dotted by fishing boats and the occasional distant liner, headed to or from the harbour. But that idyllic picture was quickly shattered if one looked down at the beach, particularly early in the morning—because it was dotted with a long line of people squatting and defecating along the waterline, oblivious to the joggers and morning walkers, who turned their faces away and pretended not to see. Later in the day, particularly in the evening, the same shoreline would be dotted by young couples snuggling up, some with large umbrellas which they believed offered them some token privacy, desperately shooing away intruding vendors trying to peddle tea, snacks, cigarettes, and even balloons—all the while keeping an eye out for Policemen looking to extort money from them. — Ramananda Sengupta in The New Indian Express.

Sound battling Vrooms

Tokyo: If you're into motorcycles, you've probably heard about Bōsōzoku, the Japanese rebel biker gangs often associated with outlandish motorcycle tuning. But what you probably didn't know is that they like to use their bike to create really loud music.

Thrill-seeking Bōsōzoku gangs have been known to engage in a variety of dangerous and illegal activities. But ever since Japanese Police started cracking down on illegal Bōsōzoku activities in the early 2000s, they've had to come up with new ways of passing time without breaking the law. That's how they came up with "Bōsōzoku sound battles," where participants compete in creating the most impressive dubstep tunes using the throttle and clutch on their motorcycles. Their videos are viewed by millions and liked. There are even special events where people turn up to see these revving maniacs show off their musical skills. As you can see, most of these Bōsōzoku revving musicians are in their 40s and more.

Bald eagles are common here !

Alaska: The majestic bald eagle is the national bird of the United States, but most Americans are lucky to see one first-hand during their lifetimes. Unless they live in the town of Unalaska, Alaska, where bald eagles are as common as pigeons are in other human settlements.

Unalaska is home to around 4,700 people who have to share their space with over 600 beautiful bald eagles. Bald eagles usually nest high up in trees, but due to less number of trees the birds build their nests on cliffs on the edge of town or in man-made structures. But why are there so many bald eagles in this particular? Unalaska Island is almost 80 miles long, but the birds choose to live in an area of only a few square miles. Well, probably because of food. The Alaskan town is located right next to Dutch Harbor, one of the largest fishing ports in the world, and fish is a staple of the eagles' diet. Every time a boat pulls in to offload, they swoop in and grab as much fish as they can get, before the crew drives them away.

ATME students develop Low-cost Coin-operated Water Vending Machine

ATME college students of D.V. Raghu, Gayaz Mohammed, Md. Mohiyuddin Shariff and Mohd. Yaseen Ahmed seen with their low-cost portable water vending machine.

Mysuru, Aug. 30 - The final year Mechanical Engineering students of ATME College of Engineering comprising D.V. Raghu, Gayaz Mohammed, Md. Mohiyuddin Shariff and Mohd. Yaseen Ahmed have developed a low-cost, portable water vending machine as part of their final year project work. The vending machine accepts coin and dispenses a glass of water from pre-purified 20 litre can available in market.

The students were inspired to invent their own machine from the water vending machines installed at Railway Stations which requires a larger space and high investment. The project began with students conducting a survey at Malls, theatres, markets and tourist places. This Project was selected for financial funding from Karnataka State Council for Science and Technology (KSCST) and was also recognised as 'Project of the Year.'

It was completed at a cost of Rs. 8,000 under the guidance of N. Rakshith, Assistant Professor, Department of Mechanical Engineering and G.N. Chandan, Assistant Professor, Department of Electronics and Communication Engineering.

Suggestions to ease traffic chaos on Mysuru-Hunsur Road

Sir,

On all working days between 8.45 - 9.15 in the morning and 5.45 - 6.15 in the evening, traffic jumble up at three road junctions — Hootagalli, Belawadi and Lingadevarakoppal — on Mysuru-Hunsur National Highway (NH) resulting in loss of valuable time in every junction and risking the lives of riders. Indisciplined vehicular movement and inappropriate infrastructure are the main cause for this chaos. Here are a few suggestions to ease the traffic flow:

Hootagalli junction: Though it is managed by a Traffic Police, it is suggested to increase the GREEN ON time by another 6 seconds on the NH and reduce 3 seconds on perpendicular road. Also curb movement of bikes, scooter and smaller four-wheelers on footpath by elevating its height.

Belawadi junction: Sometimes managed by a Traffic Warden, movement of vehicles in and out of a popular petrol bunk in the junction and illegally breached divider adds up to the chaos.

Post a Traffic Police (not a Traffic Warden) during peak hours till signal light is installed and for long run, an underpass between Belawadi village and Industrial area is a must. And, strengthen the breached road divider at all locations upto Yelwal.

Lingadevarakoppal junction: A Police check-post exists for security recording purpose. Here the road junction is not perpendicular and the road opening is too small, added by the check-post speed regulation the vehicles get choked. So, realigning the junction in line with the existing side roads, and a traffic signal light would ease the traffic. OR close the MMC diversion path permanently; let the deviation be taken at Brahmakumaris junction.

Industrial set up just after St. Joseph's School, Lingadevarakoppal: Rain water gets accumulated in half of the road for quite a distance because the industry has closed the drain to have an aesthetic look, thus compelling vehicles to take extreme right to avoid water puddle, resulting in accidents. Re-establishing the drain to carry rain water would avoid accidents.

Master Plan for 'Green Mysuru' ready

Mysuru, Aug.30 (US&PM)- A Master Plan to evolve a 'Green Mysuru' in the next five years by planting saplings by roadside and on pavements and nurturing them has been made ready. This is a far-sighted project envisaged by the Forest Department. The final shape for the Master Plan has been given by DCF Dr. Hanumanthappa.

At a recent meeting on making the city greener, chaired by DC D. Randeep, at his office here, Dr. Hanumanthappa explained the project report he has prepared through a power point presentation. He said that the project could be implemented by bifurcating the city as within the Ring Road and outside the Ring Road. The project methodically identifies prominent roads, parks, organisations, industries and vacant places in residential areas where suitable saplings could be planted by seeking the co-operation of MCC, MUDA and local organisations.

Stating that a Foundation should be formed to accomplish the mission, he added that till then, the Forest Department would take the responsibility of implementing the project. He felt that a website and mobile app should be launched for effective implementation of the project.

The responsibility of nurturing saplings on a road for a specific period could be given to interested public, Dr. Hanumanthappa said and added that public would also be given an opportunity to plant saplings at areas identified by the Department.

The meeting was attended by MGP Executive Committee Member Ashvini Ranjan, Environment Committee Convenor K.S. Venkatesh, officials of MCC and MUDA.

Gurmeet Ram Rahim was scared during questioning, reveals ex-CBI Officer

Self-styled Godman lived in a plush cave that had direct entry to Dera Ladies Hostel

Ex-CBI officer M. Narayanan

Mysuru, Aug. 30- A former Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) officer, who nailed Dera Sacha Sauda Chief Gurmeet Ram Rahim Singh has said that two senior officials handed him the case a decade back with specific orders "to close it."

Now sixty-seven-year-old M. Narayanan, who retired in 2009 as Joint Director of the CBI, had come to Mysuru recently to visit a family member. "It was in 2007 that this case was handed over to me by two senior officials and I was asked to close it," Narayanan said.

The former CBI officer said, for him it was just like any other case. Narayanan was posted as Deputy Inspector General of Police (Special Crimes) in Delhi when the Punjab and Haryana High Court handed the case to the CBI in September 2002. Narayanan put in 38 years of service and was the first officer in the CBI who rose from the post of Sub-Inspector to Joint Director.

"We went to his (Dera Chief) place in Sirsa. Ram Rahim gave me 30 minutes time. We reached there and grilled him for over three hours," said Narayanan, who is settled at Kasaragod in Kerala.

With seniors directing him to close the case and the woman, who alleged sexual abuse, getting married, it was a "game of wits" for the CBI team that probed the rape case against Gurmeet Ram Rahim. "The girl, who had been sexually abused in 1999 had since left Dera and got married. It was a daunting task to convince her as well as her family members. Thankfully, I played the role of a father for her and ensured that she not only gives her statement but also testifies before a Magistrate," he said.

Gurmeet Ram Rahim appeared scared during questioning, Narayanan remembered. "He did not give any direct reply. He pretended to be a Baba but my instincts told me that he was a scared person during the questioning."

According to Narayanan, Baba has spoiled the life of many girls, but many victims have now settled in life and would not recall the torment. Baba used to live in a cave, enjoying all modern facilities. He used to sexually assault the girls staying in the

Gurmeet Ram Rahim

Dera hostel. There was a direct entry to the ladies hostel from the cave and Baba used to call the girls at 10 pm every day. All the guards and supervisors of the cave were women, the retired officer explained.

"We prepared and submitted 28 pages of charge-sheet and 1,000 pages of supporting documents against Baba in three cases," Narayanan said.

On the 20-year jail term verdict, he said that justice has been done. "I am neither excited nor overly happy, as for me it was a routine work," he added.

MGP urges PM to end KSOU students' woes

Mysuru, Aug. 30 (NNN)- Mysore Grahakara Parishat (MGP) has requested Prime Minister Narendra Modi to set up a Commission to find ways to help the students of Karnataka State Open University (KSOU), who are suffering for no fault of theirs since the past two-and-a-half years.

In a letter to the PM dated August 26, 2017, MGP Secretary Dr. M.M. Shenoi has urged him to set up a Commission with a retired Supreme Court or High Court Judge, a retired Vice-Chancellor and an activist lawyer to look into the grievances of the students who are waiting to get their degree certificates.

Shenoi has demanded that the Commission should submit their recommendations in one month, which should be implemented in two months. "KSOU had UGC recognition till 2012-13, which they failed to renew when it expired. As a result of de-recognition by UGC, lakhs of students all over India have become the victims of KSOU's negligence. Since KSOU's web page continued to show that it has the recognition by UGC, students continued to apply for admissions paying fees, and appearing for examinations. However, when it was too late, they realised that KSOU had lost recognition," said Dr. Shenoi.

When MGP issued a press note asking KSOU students to send details on how they have suffered because of the negligence (some may even say outright fraud by KSOU) we got many such complaints — one even from Dubai. It was sad to read how students have suffered. Students waiting for promotions are denied promotion, those who want to go for higher studies are denied admissions, those who got jobs lost their jobs, etc. Many had paid money for degrees and certificates, which are now worthless, he has stated in the letter.

"When you are promoting 'Skill India' mission, it is of absolute urgency that universities like KSOU should function in a professional way. Your establishing a Commission like the one we are suggesting will restore confidence in students to seek higher degrees. We are optimistic that you will come to the rescue of lakhs of KSOU students so that they can join your efforts in creating New India as you announced recently from the Red Fort," said Dr. Shenoi in the letter to the PM.

State to roll out health cards for all from Nov.1

Bengaluru, Aug.30- The State Government will roll out 'Arogya Bhagya,' a universal health scheme that reaches out to all citizens with free or subsidised health care, including emergency care at Government and empanelled private hospital from Nov.1.

Briefing reporters after the State Cabinet meeting here on Monday, Law Minister T.B. Jayachandra said that the Cabinet has given its go-ahead for the scheme, which integrates seven existing Government-sponsored health care programmes. A funding of Rs. 869 crore has been earmarked for the scheme, he said.

Pointing out that as many as 1.4 crore households under Category-A can avail free health care without any payment under this scheme, Jayachandra said, all that is required is an Aadhaar linked 'Universal Health Card.' Details on how to procure the cards will be announced in the coming weeks, he said.

The Category-A households include farmers, teachers from aided schools, Anganawadi workers, unorganised labour, SC/STs, Pourakarmikas, media persons, members of Co-operative Societies and Government employees, he added.

Continuing, the Minister said that households which do not fall in the above category (estimated to be around 30 lakh) can enrol online with Aadhaar details by paying a premium of Rs. 300 per person per annum in rural areas and Rs. 700 in urban areas.

Stating that the scheme works on 'Treatment first, payment next' basis, with the Government bearing the cost of treatment at private hospitals up to Rs. 25,000 for emergency care, Jayachandra said that Helpline Nos. 108 and 104 will provide details regarding procuring fee diagnostics, drugs, dialysis and blood unit at Government Hospitals. Citizens will have to call toll free number 1800-425-8330/ 1800-425-2646 to get referred online to Government or private hospitals, he added.

Maintaining that there is no cap on treatment at Government hospitals, he said that the patient can visit a private hospital only if the Government institution is not equipped to provide the required treatment.

The new scheme brings under a single umbrella existing health schemes such as Vajpayee Arogyashree, Yeshasvini, Indira Suraksha Yojane, Mukhyamantri Santwana Harish Scheme, Police Arogya Bhagya and Rajiv Arogya Bhagya Scheme, Jayachandra added.

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar statue unveiling postponed

Mysuru, Aug.30 (RK&NNN)- The unveiling of the statue of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar by Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, scheduled for today (Aug.30) has been postponed, said PWD Superintending Engineer Sathyanarayan.

The statue of the architect of Indian Constitution had been installed under the beautifully constructed golden-plated dome in front of the Town Hall three days ago for inauguration. Though the construction of the dome had been completed one month ago, the work on the nine-foot tall white marble statue is still incomplete.

Since the polishing work is going on at a brisk pace, the programme has been postponed. The Rs. 5 crore project including the Rs. 60 lakh worth statue, is being implemented by the Public Works Department (PWD), he said. The decision to shift the old Ambedkar statue, which is by the side of the new one will be taken by the District in-Charge Minister, said Sathyanarayan.

Bakrid: Sale of sheep picks up in city

Prices of sheep up by 10-15% this year

Mysuru, Aug.30 (SBD&KS)- With just two days remaining for Bakrid Festival, sale of sheep has picked up in city with sheep rearers from Srirangapatna, Pandavapura, Arakere, T. Narsipur, Bannur and other places bringing their livestock and doing brisk business since a week.

This apart, online sale of sheep is also doing good business with sellers selling breeds of various countries online.

Bleating goats and sheep of various breeds from different places await the buyers. Known for its special taste owing to its fat content, the sale of Bannur breed sheep is brisk in city. Apart from livestock from Bannur, sheep from Kirgawal and other places too have made their way to the market.

With no designated place for the sellers to sell their livestock, the Millennium Circle (LIC Circle) on Mysuru-Bengaluru Road has virtually turned into a fair (jathra) with hundreds of sheep of various breeds being tied around the circle and vacant spaces near Torchlight Parade Ground to woo the customers.

Apart from LIC Circle, sheep is also being sold near Meelad Park on Ashoka Road, Rajivnagar and other places.

While few persons complained that the sellers and buyers were hampering smooth flow of traffic in LIC Circle, the sellers said that they were not blocking the traffic during the sales and urged the District Administration to allot them a designated place to sell their livestock.

Prices of sheep up by 10-15%

Mir Humayun, President of Muslim Co-operative Bank, Mysuru, said that the prices of sheep have increased by 10-15% this year.

He said that a sheep weighing about 15 kg was being sold between Rs. 10,000 and 13,000 depending on the breed and weight.

Samiulla Khan, who has been in the meat business for over two decades, said that the demand for Bannur sheep has picked and buyers from different places are thronging the place to buy sheep of their choice.

Bakrid is the festival of sacrifice for Muslim brethren, Id-ul-Zuha (Arabic) and Bakrid in India is celebrated all over the country. It falls on the 10th day of the Muslim month Zul-Hijja. On this day Muslims sacrifice a goat or sheep to commemorate the sacrifice of Prophet Ibrahim, who willingly agreed to kill his son at the behest of God. But because of his devotion to God, his son was saved and a goat was sacrificed instead.

The festival coincides with the Haj pilgrimage in Mecca. Prayers are offered in the Mosques and the sacrificial meat is then distributed after the Id prayers. Special delicacies are prepared and served among family and friends on the occasion.

Giving charity and feeding the poor on this occasion is also part of Muslim tradition.

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka explains what can children learn by having a pet

Are horses as good as dogs in picking up body language of humans?

Research says that horses are good at picking up human body language. But like dogs, and humans too, it depends on their proximity to the human. Adult horses are known to pick up body cues easily from people they know. Young ones respond to explicit body gestures like finger pointing.

With winter here what additions can you make in the diet of a stray dog?

Adding a little til oil, kidney beans, or eggs, to the dog's diet can help to relieve dry and flaky skin and ease arthritis pain brought on by cold conditions. Proper hydration is also essential to optimal health during the winter. Be sure to have a clean, fresh water supply available. Give the dog more food to keep the cold at bay.

Is Oxytocin used in the case of cows?

Oxytocin is used in cows to make their milk production faster. The action of the hormone causes the uterus of the cattle to contract, causing immense pain. Doctors have confirmed that the drug decreases the reproductive ability of cows over time, making them barren. It also reduces the lifespan of cattle. Studies have linked the consumption of milk contaminated with Oxytocin to the early onset of puberty in children and to near sightedness, which is on an alarming rise these days. Despite a ban on artificially injecting the hormone into cattle, this drug is being supplied secretly to different tabelas, as we discovered in the course of our two-month-long investigations.

Is Oxytocin use illegal?

Yes. Use of Oxytocin injection on milching animals, in order to induce milk, is illegal and amounts to cruelty on animal under Section 12 of The Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960. It is a cognizable offence and the person shall be punishable with a fine, which may extend upto one thousand rupees, or with the imprisonment for a term which may extend upto two years, or with both, and the animal on which the operation was performed shall be forfeited to the Government. The proprietor of the shop, selling these drugs to a dairy, shall be liable to lose his license as a pharmacist, in addition to criminal charges with punishment of upto 5 years in prison. The Government of India has acknowledged the negative effects of Oxytocin and has declared it as a scheduled substance. It is illegal under the Food and Drug Adulteration Act to buy, sell or administer these injections without a physician's permit. These rules apply to milkmen too. Under the provisions of the Drugs and Cosmetics Act, Oxytocin has been classified as a Prescription drug. No person/milkman can purchase the drug without having the requisite prescription from a Registered Medical Practitioner or Registered Veterinarian. But, despite this, Oxytocin ampoules are easily and readily available, not only at chemists but also from other unauthorized outlets in markets situated close to dairies.

Are dairy owners allowed to leave cattle on road?

According to the case, titled 'menace of stray cattle' presided over by Delhi High Court Justice T.S. Thakur, Justice S.N. Aggarwal, dated 31st May, 2007, it is illegal for dairy owners to leave their cattle on the road, and such an action can lead to the licences of the dairies being cancelled.

What can children learn by having a pet?

Pets teach children how to play responsibly, how to exercise as part of their day by taking the dog for a walk, how to share, how to treat other beings with respect, love and compassion. They teach children responsibility about caring for someone else apart from themselves.

A sense of self. A dog or cat is a companion, sometimes 24 hours a day. A friendly, well-socialized dog is likely to reflect constant love back to the child, saying in effect, "You are a wonderful person, and I love you." An affectionate cat that's not fearful will usually send children a similar message. While such a gift can be restorative for a person of any age, for kids a pet can play a role in helping them form a healthy sense of self and build self-esteem. Behavioural awareness. Parents should teach children to pay attention to how their behaviour affects their pets. Children can fine-tune behaviour and see when the pet's responses improve as a result of more gentle and aware treatment.

Responsibility. Caring for a pet is a great way for children to learn responsibility. But often, parents expect too much right off the bat, which can overwhelm kids and leave parents to feed and walk the pet. To avoid that, take a more reasonable approach. Instead of expecting a child to be responsible for daily pet care, start slowly, allowing them a chance to play together and bond. The role of caregiver can then naturally develop.

Healthy living habits. Properly caring for pets means feeding them an appropriate diet and engaging them in regular exercise. By being involved with these aspects of care, children can learn healthy living habits for both their pet and themselves. Leadership skills. When children learn to give basic commands to a dog, reward correct behaviour and refuse attention for incorrect responses, they're practicing leadership. This helps them gain confidence in their abilities and a sense of authority.

How to cope with loss. Although many parents probably don't want to think about this, the lifespan of a dog or cat is considerably shorter than that of people. Commonly, a child's first experience with the death of a loved one is the loss of a beloved pet. If managed in a respectful way that pays tribute to the pet, this experience can be invaluable to children as they prepare for life.

Mysuru, Aug. 30- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, who stayed overnight in city, chaired his first meeting this morning at 8, with a delegation of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) who had come to meet him seeking approval to set up a construction waste treatment plant in city.

The construction waste disposal unit has been proposed by the MCC to clear the waste as is being done in New Delhi. The unit has a capacity of recycling construction waste so that the waste can be used to make inter-locking tiles and other stone slabs.

The delegation told the CM that every day, MUDA and MCC generates construction waste that reaches up to 100 tonnes. The proposal was passed by the MCC Council and it was sent to the State government for approval.

As the project would cost more than Rs. 15 crore, the Urban Development Ministry officials objected to this, the delegation told the CM.

Swimming Pools

The delegation also told the CM that the MCC was planning to construct three swimming pools at Subbarayanakere, Nivedithanagar Stadium and Udayagiri Ali Park and sought his approval as the maintenance contract will have to be given to companies on a 30-year lease with a revenue-sharing model with the MCC.

Asked whether the raid was deliberate, as even Chief Minister Siddharamaiah had termed it as one, he said that it carried a lot of significance that the CM himself had said so.

To another question that even as he was offering pooja, the raid was going on in Bengaluru at one of his friend Vijay Mulugund's house, Shivakumar said, "I still do not know about it. I did watch it on TV. But Vijay Mulgund is a very good, simple man is all I can say at this moment."

To a query from one of the journalists that there were rumours doing the rounds that following the IT raids, his defences had crumbled and he was planning to join BJP, Shivakumar chose not to react and said that it was not the time to discuss about such issues.

Regarding Cabinet expansion, he said that the Chief Minister will have to take a decision on that issue and he would not like to comment.

Earlier in the day, Shivakumar visited his father-in-law Thimmaiah's house at Ittigegud and later accompanied by his wife Usha Shivakumar reached the Chamundeshwari temple.

Later, he left for Gundlupet to participate in the events where Chief Minister Siddharamaiah is inaugurating a slew of development projects.

Karnataka Exhibition Authority Chairman Siddaraju, Karnataka State Women Commission former Chairperson Manjula Manasa, ZP Member Nandini Chandrashekar, former City Congress President Ravishankar and others were present at the interaction with the media.

Rains in Kodagu boost KRS water level

Dam records a total water level of 19.051 tmcft while the total capacity is 49.452 tmcft

Mysuru, Aug.30 (Nagaiah& BCT)- Moderate to heavy rainfall in the catchment areas of River Cauvery in Kodagu has resulted in considerable increase in the water levels at the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam in Mandya, though the water level is yet to touch the 100 ft. mark.

This morning, the gross capacity (includes unusable water) of the KRS Dam stands at 19.051 million cubic feet (tmcft) and last year, it stood at 17.66 tmcft. The reservoir has the capacity to store 49.452 tmcft of water.

According to Irrigation Officials, the inflow to the KRS Dam has crossed 25,000 cusecs this morning and if the same inflow rate continues, the dam will touch the 100 ft mark within two or three days. Rains in the last three days have also boosted the water levels at Hemavathi (Hassan), Harangi (Kodagu) and Kabini (Mysuru) dams.

Yesterday, the water level at KRS stood at 93.52 ft while a day before yesterday it stood at 92.65 ft. Today's level stands at 95.80 ft. The Live Capacity (usable or potable water) of the Dam as on this morning stands at 11,316 Million Cubic Feet and the Gross Capacity (usable plus silt-mixed water) stands at 19,695 Million Cubic Feet. The maximum level of the Dam is 124.80 ft.

The inflow of water was recorded at 27,680 cusecs while the outflow was recorded at 10,649 cusecs. Last year, the water level on this date stood at 92.47 ft, Live Capacity was at 9,085 Million Cubic Feet. The Gross Capacity last year was recorded at 17,464 Million Cubic Feet. The inflow was recorded at 7,373 cusecs and outflow last year was recorded at 9,583 cusecs.

KRS Water Level

(Maximum : 124.80 feet)

Today	95.80 ft
Yesterday	93.52 ft
Inflow	27,680 cusecs
Outflow	10,649 cusecs
Last year on this date	92.47 ft

Harangi Level

(Maximum : 2,859.00 feet)

Today	2,855.75 ft
Inflow	8,071 cusecs
Outflow	13,066 cusecs

Kabini Level

(Maximum : 2,284.00 feet)

Today	2,274.30 ft
Inflow	15,000 cusecs
Outflow	2,000 cusecs

According to officials at Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Ltd., heavy rain in Wayanad region in Kerala, the catchment of Kabini, has increased the water level of the reservoir. Kabini had 2,268.43 ft of water against the full level of 2,284. Yesterday's water level was recorded at 2,272.25 ft and the overall storage level was recorded at 12.8 tmcft. While the Harangi reservoir in Kodagu is again nearing its full capacity with a level of 2,858.18 ft (maximum level is 2,859 ft), Hemavati Reservoir (Gorur Dam) is yet to receive 29 ft of water to reach the full reservoir level of 2,922 ft.

Following rain and subsequent increase in water levels in the reservoirs along the Cauvery Basin, hopes of farmers have lifted as they can continue to feed their paddy and sugarcane fields. However, Mandya farmers are not happy with the State Government move to continuously release water to Tamil Nadu.

"It has been raining continuously in Mysuru and Mandya and the natural water flow to Tamil Nadu has also increased. Despite this, the Government is releasing almost 8,000 to 10,000 cusecs of water every day to the neighbouring State. If we had stopped the outflow in July and August, the KRS would have reached the maximum level by now," a farmer told Star of Mysore. For the record, in August, Mandya recorded 1096.77 mm rainfall.

"We are not sure when we will be permitted to take up sowing activities as we have been instructed by the State Government not to take up agriculture activities and water will only be provided to fill up water bodies and for drinking purposes," he added.

New-born baby girl found dead inside drain

Mysuru, Aug. 30 (MTY&KS)- A body of a newborn girl was found inside a drain in Saraswathipuram here this morning. The body wrapped with a white cloth was found by passersby inside the drain behind JSS Women's College through the gap of concrete slabs covering the drain. The drain has been covered with stone slabs for the pedestrians to walk.

It is learnt that residents heard a faint cry of a baby in the early hours of this morning and assumed that it was the sound of a baby crying in one of the neighbouring houses. But, when they enquired, they came to know that there were no babies in the houses, which gave rise to suspicion.

Meanwhile, at about 11.30 am, some persons who were walking on the concrete slabs saw a new white cloth inside the drain and on examining it closely, they found a newborn wrapped in it and immediately informed Saraswathipuram Police.

The Police, who rushed to the spot, took out the baby wrapped in a white cloth only to find the baby girl dead and shifted it to MMC&RI mortuary. Saraswathipuram Police have registered a case and are investigating.

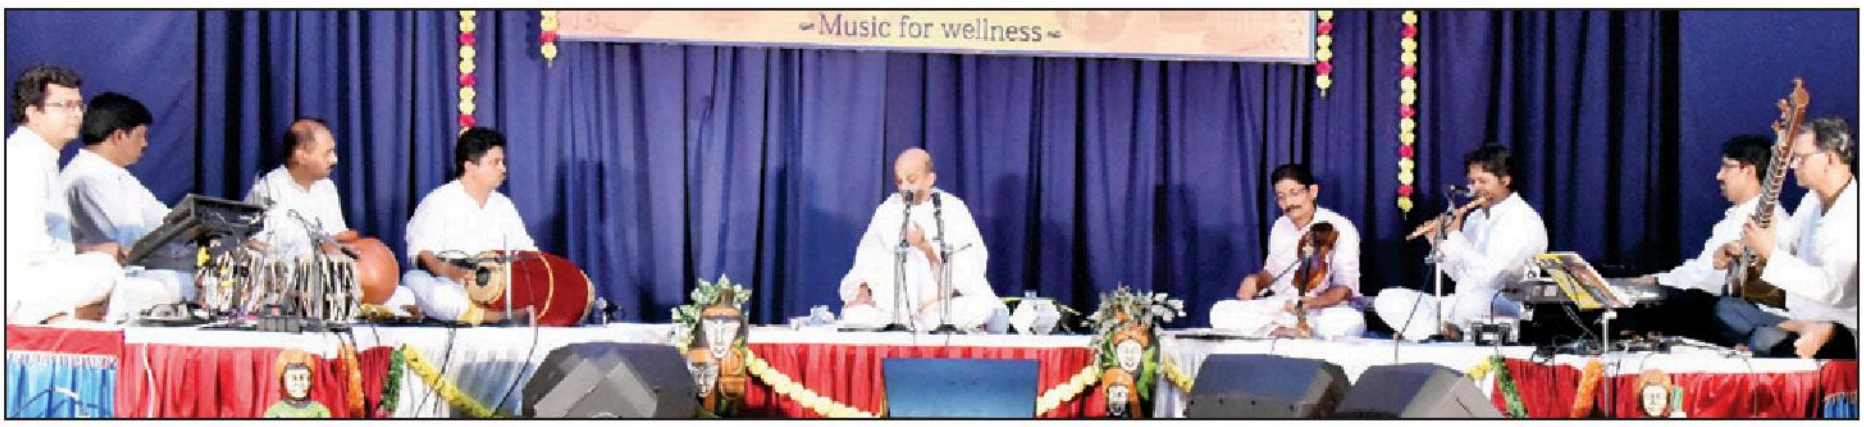
Third anniversary celebrations of RAAGA Music Academy

A scintillating concert by Dr. Vidyabhushana



Vid. Dr. Vidyabhushana (centre) performing in city on Aug.19. He is accompanied by Ananthakrishna Swamy on Rhythmpad, S. Nagaraju on Tabla, Raghunandan Rao on Ghata, H.L. Shivashankaraswamy on Mridanga, C.N. Thyagarajan on Violin, Sameer Rao on Flute, Sangeet Thomas on Keyboard and H.P. Srinivasan on Sitar.

RAAGA Music Academy, Mysuru, a young and dynamic Music Sabha, celebrated its third anniversary with a grand musical ensemble 'Swara Raaga Sudha' by Sangeetha Vidyanidhi Vid. Dr. Vidyabhushana, accompanied by Vid. H.L. Shivashankaraswamy and troupe. This was also its 51st monthly music concert, which was held on Saturday, 19th instant at Mysuru Vasudevacharya Bhavana. The auditorium which was overflowing with music aficionados and ardent admirers of Dr. Vidyabhushana, was a testimony to the popularity of the artistes and the way the programme was conceived.

Dr. Poornima Krishnamurthy, Director of Prajna Kuteera Ayurveda Centre, Abhijna International Academy of Ayurveda & Yoga and the Managing Trustee of RAAGA Music Academy, commenced the programme with a brief introduction.

Dr. Vidyabhushana is one of the most renowned musicians having a huge fan following. He is credited with bringing out umpteen number of Haridasa compositions to the fore, through numerous albums and live concerts. However, this concert was one of its kind, as an ensemble of eight instrumentalists led by Vid. H.L. Shivashankaraswamy, Founder of Laya Vidya Pratishtana, Mysuru, created a palpable atmosphere. Dr. Roopashree Madhusudan, a Dancer and Choreographer who compered the programme, was brilliant.

The concert started with an invocation of Lord Ganesha, through a very popular composition 'Nammamma Sharade' of Sri Kanakadasaru. The following composition, 'Dhavala Gange' was filled with energy and the interludes of 'Om Namah Shivaaya' transposed the audience to the divine world. The audience kept their feet tapping and fingers snapping for every composition and it was unprecedented to see them dance in front of the stage, to 'Kolu Kolanna Kole.'

The rendition of 'Tunga Teera Viraajam' a composition on Guru Raghavendra Swami brought tears in the eyes of most of the listeners. The composition on Lord Dhanvantri 'Aava Rogavo Enage' by Sri Gopala Dasaru was befitting for an Ayurveda Centre. The rest of the evening was filled with very popular compositions including 'Pillangoviya', 'Kandena Govindana', 'Krishna Krupe Maado' and so on. The auditorium was filled beyond capacity till the very end of the concert. Each of the over twenty compositions rendered was very well received with enthusiastic applause and the audience were immersed in transcendental bliss for the whole evening.

The ensemble of eight instrumentalists led by H.L. Shivashankaraswamy included C.N. Thyagarajan on Violin, Sameer Rao on Flute, H.P. Srinivasan on Sitar, Sangeet Thomas on Keyboard, H.L. Shivashankaraswamy on Mridanga, Raghunandan Rao on Ghata, S. Nagaraju on Tabla and Ananthakrishna Swamy on Rhythmpad.

The challenges are many for an artiste, the most important being, striking a fine balance between what he/she wants to convey and what the audience enjoy. It calls for sonic perspective, understanding voice dynamics, delving deep into one's system and so on. This style of singing entails a certain amount of synch and structuring. On stage, both the vocalist and the instrumentalists caught on each other's vibe to perfection. On the whole, it was a wholesome experience for both the artistes and the rasikas. RAAGA deserves all praise for organising such a captivating concert which reached out not just to the connoisseurs of Karnatak music, but, to those who enjoy devotional music as well.

US OPEN 2017
Kerber knocked out

New York, Aug. 30- In a shocking turn of events, defending US Open champion Angelique Kerber crashed out of the championship yesterday night after getting beaten by a Japanese teen.

The 19-year-old Naomi Osaka stunned the tournament holder by winning 6-3, 6-1 in just over an hour to march into the second round. Kerber became the first defending champion in New York to exit in the opening round since Svetlana Kuznetsova faced a similar situation in 2005.

Osaka, ranked 45 in the world, was too powerful for the German, hitting a range of powerful shots all over the Arthur Ashe Court as sixth seed Kerber wilted. Reflecting on her loss, the German player applauded her opponent for playing well and taking some really good chances.

Naomi Osaka

Kerber hasn't won a tournament since triumphing at the US Open 12 months ago, her second career grand slam. World number 45 Osaka broke in the first game of the second set when her opponent made a mess of a routine backhand, and she continued to pepper the court with winners to hold for 2-0. Kerber had four break points but failed to convert any as Osaka completed her demolition job to claim her first career victory against a top-10 player.

The pathetic condition of the road in Kalyangiri

Bharat Nagar slum's filthy state calls for attention

Water entering huts, stinking surroundings, snake-infested area

Mysuru, Aug. 30 (RK&NNN)- The city has bagged the top spot in the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan twice as the cleanest city in the country. The efforts for this should no doubt go to the Corporation and a few organisations. However, it slipped in ranking to the fifth spot this time because many other cities caught up with Mysuru.

Is the City as clean as it is made out to be? A reality check of a few areas presents a grim picture. Already dengue fever is threatening the lives of many. Even though it is the home town of the Chief Minister, many families do not have a proper shelter or a roof over their head. Every person on this earth has a right to food, clothing and shelter. However, they are forced to live on the pavements, under the trees, on top of the trees and in huts in low-lying areas. Here is one example of these pathetic conditions of the poor.

The poor families who do not know what it is like to live in a home, are living in the slum where rainwater gushes in. This is the scene at the huts adjoining the houses built under NURM (National Urban Renewal Mission) in Bharat Nagar near Sathagalli Bus Depot on Mahadevapura Road, where about 90 poor families are living.

This settlement comes under the Hanchya Gram Panchayat Limits and the hutment dwellers have been provided with electricity, water, Voters Identity Card, Aadhaar Card and Ration Card. However, they do not have roads, toilets and the NURM group housing underground drainage water flows into the huts.

Most of them are daily wage earners and they are forced to live in sub-human conditions with stink all around, even as snakes and other poisonous animals lurk around the huts. One's heart melts seeing the plight of these people. This is a clear violation of Human Rights. Why do the authorities concerned not respond to the problems of these poor families?

These questions arose in the light of the Chief Minister tweeting to the Deputy Commissioner to provide assistance to Abdul Khader's family who are living in abject poverty in a small shed on the Mahadevapura Road near KSRTC depot. Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep who visited the spot was stunned to see with his own eyes the misery, the pain and sheer helplessness of the people living in such squalid conditions.

Recovering from the shock, the DC has come forward to provide shelter to these 90 families houses under NURM scheme. This Kharab land comes under Hanchya Grama Survey No. 278. He has directed Tahsildar T. Ramesh Babu to give a report in this regard.

Randeep told Star of Mysore that he had written letters to Corporation Commissioner G. Jagadeesha and Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board Executive Engineer seeking information on providing shelter to these families of Bharat Nagar under group housing scheme.

Mumbai rains: City limping back to normalcy

Storm moves towards Gujarat; 'Red alert' sounded for heavy rain in Konkan, Goa, Madhya Pradesh and Central Maharashtra

Mumbai, Aug. 30- After three people, including two children, were killed when a house collapsed in Mumbai due to heavy rains which lashed Mumbai last night, the city is limping back to normalcy with local trains and flight operations commencing from today morning.

Local train services were paralysed yesterday because of flooded tracks and people were stranded for hours at Stations and offices.

Five teams of the National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) have been deployed to rescue people. The Navy has divers and choppers are on standby and its cadets ran food camps besides arranging shelter for people stuck in areas like Colaba, Worli and Ghatkopar.

Mumbai's famous dabbawalas, who deliver tiffins to offices, will not be operating today as they were not able to collect the lunch boxes which they had delivered yesterday, said their spokesperson. Power outages were reported in several parts of the city.

The storm has now moved towards Gujarat and the MET office has forecast heavy rains in the State in the next two days.

WORD OF THE DAY

Emissary

Pronunciation: EM-uh-sair-ee.

Meaning: One designated as the agent of another: representative; a secret agent.

Origin: An emissary is often a person who is sent somewhere in order to act as a representative. The key word in that sentence is sent; emissary derives from Latin emissus, the past participle of the verb emittere, meaning "to send out." Emissary first appeared in print in English in the early 1600s, not too long after the arrival of another emittere descendant: emit. In addition, emittere itself comes from Latin mittere ("to send"), which is an ancestor of many English words, including admit, commit, mission, omit, permit, premise, promise, and submit.

THE ODD WORD

Defenestrate

To throw (a person or thing) out of a window.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A whip round

Meaning: An impromptu collection of money from a group of people, in order to fund some joint enterprise.

Origin: The sad spectacle of the alcoholic ex-footballer Paul Gascoigne was reported in the UK press in February 2013, with the accompanying reports that his celebrity friends had organised a 'whip round' to fund his stay in a rehab clinic. So, why is the collection of funds called a whip round? This expression is very much 'made in England' as it derives from fox hunting, the British Army and Parliament. In 19th century foxhunts, people were employed to stop the hounds from straying by using whips to keep them in place. Such people became known as 'whippers in' or simply 'whips'. Later in the 19th century, the term began to be used in military officers' messes. John Camden Hotten described this in the 1864 edition of The Slang Dictionary: Whip, after the usual allowance of wine is drunk at mess, those who wish for more put a shilling each into a glass handed round to procure a further supply. It doesn't take much imagination to see how the process became known as a 'whip round'. Although the process began in officers' messes, it was used more widely whenever a request for group funding was made. The first use of 'whip' in this wider context that I can find is in Thomas Hughes' novel Tom Brown at Oxford, 1861: If they would stand a whip often shillings a man, they might have a new boat.

It is perhaps a mark of social change in the UK that, although the expression originated in the English upper classes, it is now footballers rather than princes who merit a 'whip round.'
